NATIONAL LEAGUE

Projected Finish

Connecticut
Burlington
Taxachusetts
Hazardville
US
Norwich
Zante
Allyn Street
Wall Street
Foggymountain
Illinois
Klee's

It looks to be another very competitive season in the NL during 2024.

I do think that CT and BB are the two best teams. But after that it gets very challenging to determine who is likely to make the playoffs.

The Blue Devils have an excellent rotation and one of the best closers in Phillips. Freeman and Seager lead a very solid offense. Just a solid team top to bottom.

The Bucs are right there. Not the big names, but a very good lineup. Also, they probably have the league's best rotation. Good pen as well. Should be a real battle for the NL regular season crown.

I'm going with Taxachusetts, Hazardville and US next. I put Norwich and Zante on the bubble.

I see Allyn Street, Wall Street, Foggymountain, Illinois and Klee's on the outside looking in.

In this season of challenging pitching, I figure the Chiefs and Jarheads will slug their way into the playoffs. The Kegs are also a bit light on the pitching, but a fairly well balanced team..

Wall Street is interesting as they have one of the NL's better starting rotations. However, a 3e25 at SS and crappy offense are not good things.

Big question.... will the Klubbers get out of the basement?
