

Retrieving game that shuts down

If game shuts down mid-game, the game can be pulled up and started again from the point it shut down. A manual entry may be required to get the last play corrected.

Retrieve the game by:

File (from toolbar)

Open

pickupgame.sav

The game should re-load from where it left off. The last play or two may be lost. In that case the game can be corrected by going into manual entry mode, make the appropriate game correction, and then take the game out of manual mode.

Manual Game Entry Corrections

To make a manual game correction the game must be put into manual mode, corrections made, then taken back out of manual mode.

Put into manual mode by:

Options (from the toolbar menu)

Game Preferences

Select Manual Mode from Entry Mode menu

OK

Making manual game corrections

Select the batter hit button on the game pallet

Window appears with drop down menus for batter and baserunners

Make appropriate selections for batter and ALL baserunners

OK

Take game out of manual mode

Take game out of mode by:

Options (from the toolbar menu)

Game Preferences

Select None from Entry Mode menu

OK

Start play again

Removing the DH from the Lineup (normal play)

Open up the lineup window.

Select the current pitcher at the bottom of the lineup and drag the pitcher into the desired batting slot.

After the pitcher has been dragged into a batting slot, other substitutions can be made (fielders or pitchers). If a new pitcher enters the game, drag him into the appropriate batting slot.

Removing the DH from the Lineup (Netplay)

Open up the lineup window.

Control C cancels the DH.

Select the current pitcher at the bottom of the lineup and enter the number of the desired batting slot. The current pitcher's name will be shown in the batting lineup.

After the pitcher has been put into the batting order, other substitutions can be made (fielders or pitchers). If a new pitcher enters the game, put him into the appropriate batting slot.

Finding out if baserunner is an * base stealer (Netplay)

Player steal ratings with asterisks where appropriate are on the page for each team, navigate to TEAM/Display Reports, it's the second alpha listing.