NINER NOTES: TO THE PARAMEDICS: "Tommy came into my office and his eyeballs looked like chocolate milk duds. His skin was as white as a vanilla shake except his nose which was as red as strawberries. This is what happened just ten minutes ago in my office: "Tommy, what's the matter?" said GM Bruno " I don't want to see any Gatorade in our dugout anymore." You better replace it with Slimfast or I'm out of here!" said Lasorda " OK, Tommy whatever you say." 'Also no more food for after game meals. Everyone will be on SLIMFAST, you got that Bruno." said Lasorda. "OK, Tommy, OK." " Yea, and I also want everyone paid in Slimfast rebate coupons. And Slimfast must be served at each meal. And Slimffff-fffffsssst...." " Tommy, are you OK! That's when he really freaked out"

That was the scene at Allyn Street Stadium this morning. Poor Tommy Lasorda's mind has become a waste land of Slimfast shakes. Just before the medics got to him Tommy was sniffing the stuff(Slimfast).

Because of Tommy Lasorda's new medical problem he's leaving as manager of the 89ers! "I told Bruno that Slimfast is the new fountain of youth and God told me so. The hell with him. I make more money with my Slimfast commercials than what Bruno was willing to pay me anyway." That was Lasorda's official statement to why he was leaving the 89ers.

Who's in now? Martin? Stengel? Bruno? WHO? It's "Wild" Bill Holowaty. The Coach of Eastern Connecticut State College. "I'm happy to be moving from college ball to the Fly-By-Night. But, I have one question about this guy Bruno. Is he the same guy who played for me in '69? Naw, can't be. This guy Bruno that I had on the '69, club was catching batting practice once before a game. With our starting first baseman up taking his BP, Bruno hit him in the head with a throw back to the pitcher. Bruno said it had nothing to do with the fact that he (Bruno) was our backup first baseman! (What can I say, I wanted to play.)

Holowaty will handle the pitchers and catchers. He'll complete his coaching staff with Sam Cristy at first base and Rob Bruno at third base.

(Since I no longer change the team name each year I've got to change something)

A good idea came in about trades and road instructions. If you make a trade during the season and it hasn't been reported in a newsletter PLEASE include your trade in all road instructions UNTIL it has been reported in the a newsletter. This will help all of us save time looking for the missing/additional players until the trade has been announced.
