WOE BEBONE: The Whippets slipped into Jim Bouton Field where everyone is below average.

The Klubbers failed to defeat the ghosts of the playoffs as they dropped a double header to the Whippets. “A memorial service will be held in the parking lot immediately to say good bye to our playoff hopes,” said GM and Owner for Life Klee.

The Klubbers after losing 2 bruising 1-run games to the Whippets slipped into Milford Harbor under cover of darkness hoping to get in and out without being noticed. After losing game one the Klub came back to take game two but lost again in game three. Asked after the series what are their chances to make the post season, manager Kramen said, “That horse has left the barn.

We lost our 63rd game tonight.”

A change of scenery can do wonders or not. “New Hampshire appears to be an undesirable offensive location.” said GM Griffin. “All of the trades I’ve made this year have driven my players involved in the wrong direction.”

Connecticut completed Block 6 play with a split with Lake Wobegon and a sweep of Alpharetta. Blue Devil offense got into the home run mold as the team hit 7 during the 4 games led by Freddie Freeman who hit 3 of them. The bullpen also was strong helping in all three of the wins. CT now 61-57, has tied Illinois for 4th place.

The 89ERS had another 4-11, run against the American League. It has left GM Weiss wondering what he should do before time runs out on the trade deadline. “I’ll listen to any offer,” said Weiss.

Hotlanta owner Jim Jalutkewicz was asked about his minor league club, the Skunks. “The [dog]’s are on a playoff spot. The Dogs just finished a 6 game

With the split at Illinois, the Whippets finished up the inter-league part of the schedule with a 20-10 IL mark. “We need to play that well against the teams in our own League”, said Jim Ferguson.

Father and son, Silver Bullet fans outside of the Bengal Dome waiting to buy tickets. “Our fans and the team are ready for the final run through the American League,” said Mike Holbrook. “We will be playing some of our prospects. Our fans will start to see some Silver Bullets of the future.”

Have called up rookie Kyle “The Menace” Lewis. “I called up Lewis for the last 44 games,” said GM Barry Shanks. “He was tearing up the FBN minor league. He deserved a shot at the show.”

Lewis stats at AAA Maine Travelers:
