GUNNERS MAKING THEIR MARK!

Both Giancarlo Stanton and Bryce Harper continue to make their mark on the all-time stats list.

Harper's 45 runs scored so far this season has moved him to 1128 total. With that he passes Brett Butler, Shawn Green, Lance Berkman and Albert "Joey" Belle. Next on the list are Carlos Delgado, and Nick Markakis.

Harper has pushed his career RBI total to 1036. That puts him 3 rbi away from passing Harold Baines, and 4 away from passing Eddie Murray at 1039.

Harper has moved up the list in doubles, with 393, passing AJ Pierzinski. His 15 Homers have moved him to 336 total, and is currently tied with Todd Helton. Cal Ripken, at 340 is next on the list

Stanton, has hit 15 home runs so far this season, moving his total to 477. He just passed Joe Carter, and is 2 away from passing Chipper Jones (478).

Stanton's 30 rbi so far this season, moved him past Cal Ripken, with a total of 1282 career rbi.

Jorge Mateo leads the team with 31 stolen bases thru 62 games. The single season Gunner record is 75, held by Eric "the dung beetle" Young, in 1997. "If I can stay healthy, and don't get sent down to the minors, the record is mine", proclaimed the confident Mateo. Only time will tell.
